REPUBLIC BUILDING, SPRINGFIELD, OHIO.

MAY EVENING. NOVEMBER 10, 1887.

OBIO'S KEYNOTE FOR 1888.

Ohio has sounded the keynote for the ngwumps and "tenderfoot" republicans national victory next year let it be ed new that it will be gained in selv the same way that our Ohio vicstraight, out-and-out, heroic fight for the ace and vindication of the great iples which lie at the very foundation of a republican and popular government.

Ohio has lifted up her voice and cast her for free, pure, honest elections—in the tary Bayard to use his influence to secure North and in the South-and a republican rality over the highest vote of four epng parties, of more than 30,000, gives has already begun.

Another great and most significant fact gives force to her utterance: namely, the her army of individual republicans, have taken in hand the boodlers, the bulldozers and the ballot-box stuffers whose rank parpolitical offenses smelled to heaven and given the state a bad name throughout the land, and throttled and trodden them inder foot. The great, supremely imporblican and democratic principle d in a free, pure, honest ballot, as been vindicated and grandly illustrated in Ohio. We have had an absolutely free election and the ballots cast on Tuesday. November 8th have been honestly counted. And as a result of this we have had a oblican victory, in which great give thanks. p rinciples have gloriously triumphed.

Now, let it be further understood, that if recisely the same kind of a battle which has been fought in Ohio by Governor Foraker. Senator Sherman, Major McKinley, Major Butterworth, and others-had been fought in New York, that state could have been carried by the republicans, in spite of may be seen burning hanging lamps. GRINDERS OF CUTLERY.

Disastrous Results of Inhaling an Atmo phere Loaded with Irritating Dust. Dr. Canedy, of Shelburne Falls, Mass. recently read a paper before the Franklin District Medical society on grinder's convation on the grinders employed by a cutlery company at that place, numbering, on an average, forty men and boys for the past twenty five years. During the ten years just ended, twenty-three grinders have died with chronic disease of the air passages, and three are now confined to the house with similar affections; and five in whom the disease has made consider ress are still at work in the cut workers are compelled to inhale an atsphere londed with irritating dust, as coal mining and fron and metal polishing, none seems more certain or fatal in its effects than grinding.

Investigations made at Sheffield, England, fix the average period at which grinders can work at thirteen years. The progress of some cases is exceedingly slow; some of the patients living ten years or more, after being compelled to leave the shop by their cough, most of the time in chronic invalidism, and dying at last fro the exhaustion dependent upon pulmon ary disease. In spite of all treatment, the inevitable tendency of the disease seems to be to ward a fatal termination, and Dr. Canely states that he has never seen any recover ies.
